Chicago & North Western, Nickel Plate 10' 6" IH War Emergency Boxcar

When steel plate was limited during World War II, the AAR redesigned a version of the standard 1942 boxcar to replace the steel sides with wood sides and a truss of six steel posts and diagonals. The redesign retained the steel ends and roof of the '42 cars.

The largest group of standard AAR war emergency cars, 919, went to the Chicago and North Western. These came in three versions. The Pullman built cars had a Viking roof and Youngstown or Superior door. The Youngstown door cars were numbered 77416-77748 and the Superior door cars 77750-78248. (On the CNW, cars were given even numbers.) These cars got the Apex metal running board. The CNW series 79250-80250 from ACF had the more common Murphy paneled roof and a Superior door. These cars were equipped with the Gypsum running board. Both series of CNW cars were equipped with ARA design cast side frame trucks. All three groups of cars had poling pockets on the ends.

The Nickel Plate got 200 cars in its 8000-199 series. The NKP cars were Pullman built. They were equipped with ARA design trucks, Superior doors and metal running boards. The ends had poling pockets. The NKP cars came while the road was using the script name with a "rocking R" in Road. The standard script name was changed almost immediately to an "R" with a straight leg.

The Sunshine Model kit combines gray urethane cast parts with injection molded plastic roof and commercial detailing parts. (In the case of the CNW Viking roof cars, the kit includes a cast roof in place of the plastic roof.) Etched metal running boards are included for cars. Proprietary decals, full instructions and Prototype Data Sheet are included.
